

SECTION A: UNSEEN PASSAGE

Q.no.I.A. Read the following passage and answer the following questions:

India's northeastern region is home to the Seven Sister States—Arunachal Pradesh, Assam, Manipur, Meghalaya, Mizoram, Nagaland, and Tripura. These states are known for their breathtaking landscapes, diverse cultures, and rich biodiversity. Surrounded by hills, rivers, and forests, they share borders with Bhutan, China, Myanmar, and Bangladesh. Despite their remote location, they are an important part of India's cultural and geographical identity.

Each of these states has its own unique traditions, languages, and festivals. For example, Bihu is the most famous festival of Assam, while Hornbill Festival is celebrated in Nagaland. Meghalaya, known as the "Abode of Clouds," is famous for its living root bridges and heavy rainfall. Arunachal Pradesh is home to Tawang Monastery, one of the largest Buddhist monasteries in India. Mizoram and Manipur have a strong tradition of dance and music, while Tripura is known for its ancient palaces and temples.

The Seven Sister States are also rich in natural resources. They have dense forests, rare wildlife, and beautiful tea gardens. Kaziranga National Park in Assam is famous for the one-horned rhinoceros. The Brahmaputra River, one of the largest rivers in India, flows through this region, providing water for agriculture and daily life. Though these states face challenges like poor connectivity, efforts are being made to improve roads, railways, and tourism. With their unique culture and natural beauty, the Seven Sister States are a true gem of India.

Q.no.I.B. Read the following passage and answer the following questions:

Wildlife refers to animals, birds, insects, and plants that live in forests, rivers, and mountains without human interference. It plays an important role in maintaining the balance of nature. Many wild animals, such as tigers, elephants, deer, and leopards, are found in different parts of the world. Birds like peacocks, eagles, and parrots also add to the beauty of nature.

Unfortunately, wildlife is in danger due to deforestation, pollution, and hunting. Many species have become endangered because of human activities. For example, the Bengal tiger and the one-horned rhinoceros are at risk of extinction. To protect wildlife, national parks and wildlife sanctuaries have been created. These protected areas provide a safe environment for animals and plants to grow without threats.

Every person can help save wildlife by planting trees, reducing pollution, and avoiding the use of animal products. Governments and organizations are working to raise awareness and enforce strict laws to protect forests and animals. If we all work together, we can ensure a safe future for wildlife and maintain the natural beauty of our planet.
