Q.1. Read the following passage and answer the questions given below:

Popcorn is the world's number one snack food. It was probably originated in Mexico where it was first cultivated by indigenous peoples. Another name for popcorn is "popped corn." It can also be referred to as "popcorn maize" or simply "corns" in some contexts.

In ancient times, people made popcorn by placing the kernels directly over a heat source. They used various methods such as throwing kernels onto hot stones, clay pots, or even directly into open flames. These methods would cause the kernels to pop when heated. Each kernel contains a small amount of water, and when heated, this water turns to steam, causing the kernel to explode and turn inside out. Popcorn can be enjoyed plain or with various toppings like butter, salt, cheese, or caramel it's often associated with movie theatres and enjoyed as a fun, crunchy treat.
